The University of Tennessee
College of Law

DISCARDED BY
THE LAW LIBRARY

The buildings of the College of Law were in the 1950's renamed the George C. Taylor Law Center. The implications of that step were to provide a set of functions for the good of the public not limited to but including quality professional education in law. A modern Law Center comprehends much more, including direct public service such as is involved in the Legal Clinic, which provides representation to thousands of local citizens otherwise unable to afford assistance of counsel. The idea of a Law Center should also provide programs in advanced professional education for the lawyer already admitted to practice. It should also include substantial programs in research and publication about legal developments, particularly to keep abreast of the growth and specialization of the law within Tennessee. The Law Center should also be a place where information about law and lawyers is disseminated to the public, and a place where the legal profession and other disciplines can come together to improve the competence and integrity of the professional services being offered to the public.

The Study of Law

The University of Tennessee College of Law commenced operation in 1890 and has continuously sought to provide high quality legal education in a university community.

While the principal objective of the Law College is to prepare students for the private practice of law, its total mission is more broadly conceived. The College of Law exposes students to the legal issues of our society enabling them to develop analytical skills in respect to decisional law and statutes, the ability effectively to communicate to others their knowledge of the law, an awareness of the historical growth of the law, a knowledgeable appreciation of the inter-relationship of law and society, and the ability to use law as an implement of societal control and development. Students are thus equipped to serve their community not only as advocates and counselors, but as policy-makers and active, responsible citizens as well.

The coordinated program of the College of Law has three dimensions:

teaching and learning, research into and appraisal of our legal system and institutions, and service to the community. Each plays a significant role in the College of Law as a modern law center.

The teaching and learning element of legal education at the College of Law involves a cooperative classroom interaction between faculty and students in the analytical study of a host of questions and problems found in today's legal profession. These involve decisional law, statutory interpretation, administrative regulation, techniques of trial and appellate advocacy, and the roles and responsibilities of the lawyer as he advises and represents his clients. While proper consideration is given to the problems of Tennessee law, the course of study is conducted with a view toward providing an awareness and understanding of the regional and national perspectives so as to prepare our students for service in any state.

The College of Law is also directly involved in providing service to the community of which it is a part. A major element of public service is centered in the Legal Clinic, where students, under the guidance of skilled and experienced licensed practitioners, provide legal services to indigent persons of Knox County. Additionally, through research, consultation, and other services to legal institutions and groups within the state, the College of Law seeks to participate in the development and improvement of the society in which its students may eventually practice law.

Through the philosophies and implementing programs outlined above and below, the College of Law attempts to meet its commitment to society. Commitment to the education of its students is, of course, foremost, but an integral part of this is the fulfillment of its responsibility as a teaching and service institution to the University community, the people of Knoxville and the State of Tennessee, and the legal profession in general.

In addition to its recreational attractions, East Tennessee affords many opportunities for the student body and faculty of the Law College to meet this commitment through participation in the resolution of such controversial matters as strip mining regulations, public sector collective bargaining, civil disabilities of convicted offenders, and preservation of endangered species, to name only a few. Clearly, a purely classroom-oriented legal education is insufficient preparation (both practically and morally) today. The College of Law recognizes this and fosters societal involvement at all levels.

In combination, the direction and objectives of the Law College lead to the development not of a narrow technician, but of a student of the law with the perspective, breadth, and understanding necessary for the accomplishment of the many tasks assigned by society to the legal profession.

Law Center Programs and Organizations

LEGAL CLINIC

The University of Tennessee Legal Clinic was established in 1947. Through the process of providing legal assistance to indigent persons, the Clinic serves primarily as a teaching device to correlate theory and practice through personal contact with clients and their problems. The Legal Clinic functions as a large law office in which the student gains experience in interviewing clients, writing legal letters, investigating and evaluating facts, preparing memoranda of law, briefing cases, arguing motions, preparing cases for trial or adjustment, and participating in actual litigation. Classroom work supplements the handling of actual cases. The student is thus trained in the technique of law practice and the management of a law office. The ethical responsibilities of lawyers and their function as public servants are stressed. Under present rules of the Tennessee Supreme Court, Clinic students, under the direct supervision of the Legal Clinic staff, are certified to practice before all the courts of Tennessee.

PUBLIC LAW RESEARCH AND SERVICE PROGRAM

The Public Law Research and Service Program is the College of Law's main vehicle for legal service to government agencies and public officials. It conducts some projects directly and coordinates much of the delivery of the College's service to government by faculty and students. The program hires a number of students to do research and writing for publication in connection with its Judicial System Education Program and Legislative Service Program. Several volumes of student writing have been published in connection with judicial education activities. The Legislative Program places students in the Tennessee General Assembly drafting bills and doing legal research for legislators as faculty-supervised employees of the Legislative Council Committee. The Public Law Program is also a vehicle for conducting experimental activities such as the Legal Assistant Training Program and for interagency endeavors such as conferences and proposals concerning changes in the law.

CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION

The study of law does not end with the receipt of a diploma. Significant and rapidly changing developments in substantive and procedural law, as well as in the practice of law generally, have created the need for a continuing program of quality post-graduate education for members of the legal profession.

Recognizing this need, the College of Law's continuing legal education program has been designed to provide lawyers with an opportunity to enhance their knowledge and skills through the use of seminars, workshops, short courses, audio and video cassette tape programs, and publications. Each program attempts to blend practical considerations in the solution of legal problems with policy, theoretical, and ethical considerations.

Programs in law office management and economics, consumer bankruptcy, and the Federal Rules of Evidence have already been conducted. Forthcoming programs will include the Uniform Commercial Code, proof of damages, enforcement of judgments, environmental law, administrative law, tax planning for agriculture, and several advocacy programs.

THE TENNESSEE LAW REVIEW

The Tennessee Law Review is a legal periodical published quarterly by the faculty and students of the College of Law. Candidates for the Review are selected from the second-year law class by the Law Review editorial board on the basis of scholarship and writing ability. The editorial board is composed of third year students.

The Review offers an excellent opportunity to those students with the requisite legal aptitude and industry to do legal research and writing of a scholarly and practical nature. Notes and comments upon important recent decisions are prepared by each student editor under the supervision of the Law Faculty and are published in the Review.

STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Student Legal Assistance Program

"SLAP" is an organization of law student volunteers who serve as student defenders within the University community. It provides opportunity to develop advocacy skills as well as to provide needed representation to University students. Most of the student defenders' caseloads involve the defense of undergraduate students accused of violating University Standards of Conduct. This requires prehearing investigation and preparation of cases for adjudication, as well as familiarization with and implementation of appropriate University procedure, including written briefs and oral argument.

Tennessee Legal Resource Coalition

The Tennessee Legal Resource Coalition is a group of law students concerned with the practice of public interest law. They undertake projects requiring legal research and writing which would ordinarily be unavailable in the private sector. The research involves preparation of testimony before public agencies, drafting legislation, preparation of studies on the rights of disadvantaged persons and environmental matters, as well as other public interest concerns.

Law Women

The Law Women organization offers a wide diversity of programs in which a woman can find her own way to fit into the legal profession. Weekly meetings and projects concerned with the internal operation of the law school, including informal discussions with the Dean, are offered. Informative seminars on topics such as job placement are conducted, and study aids and classmates are readily available to help in academic pursuits.

Law Women also offers the opportunity to work in meaningful community projects. It provides informative assistance to the Rape Crisis Center, and in conjunction with other University departments has sponsored conferences on Women in Education and Employment Discrimination.

Law Women brings speakers to the University such as Faith Seidenberg, a prominent, nationally-known attorney. It also informs people about current litigation and pending legislation of interest to women. Projects with other schools are engaged in, and each year, several women attend the regional conference on Women in Law.

Law Women also sponsors social functions, coffee hours, and luncheon meetings, and participates in University intramural sports.

Black Law Student Caucus

The Black Law Student Caucus of the University of Tennessee is a member of the Black American Law Student Association. The purpose of the Caucus is to articulate and promote the needs and goals of black law students at the University of Tennessee, to foster and encourage an attitude of professional competence, and to focus upon the relationship of the black attorney to the American legal structure and the black community. It further attempts to assist black students with information pertaining to law school, to instill in the black attorney and law student a greater awareness of and commitment to the legal and non-legal needs of the black community, to solicit funds and provide loans, grants, and scholarships to black law students in need of financial assistance, and to establish community-oriented legal programs to assist the University of Tennessee and the Knoxville area generally.

The Order of the Coif

The Order of the Coif is a national law school honor society, election to which depends upon exceptional scholastic attainment. Only those students who, at the time of their graduation, are among the first tenth of their class are eligible. Election is made by the Law Faculty and is the highest honor conferred by the College of Law.

Moot Courts

Trial Moot Court. In order to meet the need for practical training and experience, a Moot Court is conducted in the College of Law. Students participate in the organization of the court and serve at times as bailiff, clerk, and jurors. Senior students act as counsel in both law and equity cases and are required to perform all the duties of counsel. Other students serve as jurors. The Moot Court room reproduces a modern courtroom. The judge's bench, jury box, facilities for attorneys and litigants, and space for spectators contribute an air of reality that makes for more effective courtroom training.

Appellate Moot Court. Each student in the College of Law participates in Appellate Argument for at least one quarter. This provides an opportunity to gain experience and training in appellate argument and brief preparation. Those who have participated in Appellate Argument are eligible for the Law Day Competition and selection to represent the College of Law in the National Inter-Law School Moot Court competition. Regional winners in this competition compete in final arguments at the national level.

For further practical experience, students are encouraged to visit the courts of all types (criminal, civil, equity, state, and federal, including the Court of Appeals of Tennessee and the Supreme Court of Tennessee) which hold their sessions in the City of Knoxville.

Student Bar Association

The UT Student Bar Association is a member of the American Law Student Association, which is affiliated with the American Bar Association. As members of S.B.A., all law students have the opportunity to participate in College of Law activities. At weekly meetings the Association sponsors lectures and similar programs. Each spring it sponsors an annual Law Day.

The Forum

As the student newspaper of the Law College, the Forum seeks to provide a vehicle for the expression of student views on a wide range of subjects. Constructive criticism is encouraged, and numerous questions concerning curriculum, teaching methods, and grading practices have been aired through this medium.

Legal Fraternities

Three of the largest national legal fraternities maintain active chapters at the College of Law. The Roosevelt Inn of Phi Delta Phi Legal Fraternity was established at the Law College in 1919. The McReynolds Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity was founded at the College of Law in 1916. The John Catron Senate of Delta Theta Phi received its charter in 1966.

The legal fraternities have traditionally played a leading role in College of Law affairs, professional as well as social. Weekly luncheon programs and round table discussions and lectures feature addresses by prominent speakers drawn from the legal profession and from commerce and industry. The fraternities foster a consciousness of the ideals of the legal profession and good fellowship among their members.

Student-Faculty Relationship

The learning process described above is greatly enhanced by the rapport which exists between students and faculty. While faculty members have high expectations of the development of creative thinking by the students and are, therefore, demanding in their teaching, a comfortable relationship exists at the academic, advisory, and social levels. Students generally feel at ease seeking advice or clarification of a point made in class. Further evidence of this positive atmosphere for legal education are the Friday afternoon get-togethers between students and faculty and such events as the annual faculty-student basketball game and tennis tournament.

The Law Library

The learning process is facilitated by the availability of excellent legal resource materials. The Law Library contains the official state reports of all states, the complete National Reporter system, which covers all states and the federal courts, the Annotated Reports, standard sets of miscellaneous reports, the reports of the Canadian cases and of English cases from the Yearbook to date. In addition to these, there are adequate encyclopedias, digests and dictionaries, standard textbooks, law reviews, and current loose-leaf services, totaling together more than 100,000 catalogued volumes. The Library is under the supervision of a full-time member of the faculty with thorough training in library science as well as law. The physical facilities, the collection of books, and the library staff combine to make the Law Library of The University of Tennessee one of the best in the South. Law students also have the use of the collections in the Main University Library, which is located just across the street from the Law Library, and the Undergraduate Library a few blocks away.

Curriculum

The following program is designed to give the student an adequate preparation for the practice of law. From twelve to fifteen hours of classroom work a week are required of all full-time students. The required courses will be taken as early in the law curriculum as possible or as scheduled by the law faculty.

Course Offerings Subject to Change

The necessity of adjustments to accommodate changing conditions may dictate modifications in the course offerings and other features of the program described above. Accordingly, the College of Law reserves the right to make such variation in its program as circumstances may require. Prospective students who are interested in the precise course offerings at a given time or who desire other special information should make inquiry in advance.

*Subject to approval by University Faculty Senate.

Academic Policies

The Quarter System and Residence Requirements

The College of Law is conducted under the quarter system. Four quarters of work are offered each calendar year. Residence study for any three quarters constitutes an academic year. Thus, the residence study requirements for the J.D. degree, covering three academic years, or nine quarters, may be completed within a calendar period of two and one-quarter years. Students who begin in the fall quarter may spread their work over three years by omitting each year the summer quarter or some other quarter. In order to obtain full resident credit for any one quarter, a student must carry a minimum of 10 hours of work a week and pass a minimum of nine hours. For any quarter in which less than ten hours are carried, or nine hours passed, a student will receive proportional residence credit. To be eligible to receive the J.D. degree, candidates must complete at least the last three quarters in residence at the College of Law.

Full Time Study of Law

All students are expected to be full-time students. It is essential that all first-year required courses be completed in the first three quarters of law study. Completion means receiving a grade or credit.

First-Year Course Load. All first-year students are required to take the prescribed full course load in each of the first three or four quarters. Applications for permission to drop courses or otherwise vary the first-year program in cases of emergency, hardship, or other unusual circumstances are considered by a faculty committee.

In the event of any variance, the faculty will determine which, if any, upper-class courses may be taken before all first-year courses are completed. No first-year student may take an upper-class course during any quarter in which there is offered a first-year course which the student has not completed or in which he or she is not enrolled for that quarter.

Upper-Class Course Load. Following completion of the first-year prescribed courses, a full-time student shall complete at least twelve (12) hours each quarter enrolled, with the exception of the summer quarter.

If a student who completed the required first-year courses subsequently fails to complete twelve (12) hours in any one quarter, the student may not thereafter be allowed to register for more than sixteen (16) hours in any one quarter; provided, however, that if a student has failed to complete the required twelve (12) hours because of emergency, temporary hardship, or other unusual circumstances, the faculty may waive the sixteen (16) hour maximum limitation. Completion means receiving a grade or credit.

Maximum Course Load. The maximum course load for a law student is eighteen (18) quarter hours in any one quarter.

Grading Policy

Grades at the College of Law are on a numerical basis from 0.0 to 4.0. A grade of 0.5 or below is a failure.

Temporary Grades. Where for good cause shown (such as serious illness or other disability), a student fails to complete all requirements for a course in which he or she is enrolled, the course instructor may assign the student a temporary grade of I or X. I (incomplete) is assigned to a student whose work is satisfactory but who has failed to complete a paper or requirement other than the final examination. X (absence) is assigned to a student who, otherwise passing, was absent from the final examination.

A student receiving these grades should arrange with the instructor to take whatever action is needed to remove the grade at the earliest possible date, and in any event within one year after the course was attempted. A student need not be enrolled at the College of Law to remove a temporary grade. The grade of X may be removed by taking the examination the next time the course is offered or at the convenience of the instructor.

Pass/No Grade Option for Elective Courses. All students who have completed 56 quarter hours of study will be eligible to take one course on a Pass/No Grade basis in each of three subsequent quarters at the beginning of which the student has an overall average of at least 2.0. A maximum of three courses may be taken on a Pass/No Grade basis. Required courses may not be taken on a Pass/No Grade basis, and courses taken on a Pass/No Grade basis may not be used to satisfy prerequisites for other courses unless a "Pass" is received. Election to take courses on a Pass/No Grade basis must be made at the time of registration and cannot be changed thereafter, except that students who register for a course on a Pass/No Grade basis when they are ineligible to do so will be required to change to regular grading when the error is discovered.

Students electing the Pass/No Grade basis must meet all requirements imposed on students taking the course on a regular grade basis; e.g., attendance, term paper, recitation, etc.. Examinations and other work of students electing a Pass/No Grade basis shall not be graded separately or differently from that of other students.

Credit will be given for a course taken on a Pass/No Grade basis only in quarters in which the student completes (receives a grade in) at least ten (10) hours on a regular grade basis. For purposes of Pass/No Grade grading, pass shall mean a grade of at least 2.0. A student electing Pass/No Grade who makes 2.0 or above shall receive credit for the course, but his grade shall be recorded as "P" and will not be used in determining grade average. A student electing Pass/No Grade who makes below 2.0 will receive a NG for the course and neither the grade nor the hours for the course will be used in computing grade average or hours credit.

Maintenance of Satisfactory Record

Students in the College of Law must maintain a satisfactory academic record. The following rules apply to probation and academic ineligibility:

Exclusion of First-Year Students. No student will be excluded from the College of Law for academic reasons prior to the completion of three quarters of academic study. A full-time student who fails to achieve an overall average of at least 2.0 upon completion (receipt of grade) of three quarters of academic study shall be excluded. A student who has obtained permission to vary the first-year full course load shall be excluded if such student fails to achieve an overall average of at least 2.0 upon completion (receipt of grade) of all required first-year courses, or upon completion of 40 hours, whichever first occurs.

Probation and Exclusion of Upper-Class Students. To remain in good standing, a student must maintain at least a 2.0 average on the work of any one quarter and overall. An upper-class student who fails to maintain a 2.0 average on the work of any one quarter or overall will be placed on probation. A student placed on probation has one quarter in which to remove it by achieving at least a 2.0 average for that quarter's work and raising his or her cumulative average to at least 2.0. Failure to remove such probation results in academic ineligibility to continue as a student in the College of Law.

The above is subject to the limitation that no upper-class student may become ineligible at the end of a quarter in which the student has achieved a 2.0 for the work of that quarter. In such a case the student will be permitted to continue his or her studies on academic probation for as long as a 2.0 average on each quarter's work is achieved.

Further, a student who is on probation but whose cumulative average is 2.0 or better will not be ineligible on account of his or her quarterly average being below 2.0 until the end of the second successive quarter of probation.

A student placed on probation should withdraw from all extracurricular activity at the University, and if employed, should curtail or eliminate his or her employment or reduce his or her academic load proportionately. Students on probation may not hold office in any professional or social fraternity, in the Student Bar Association, or in any similar organization or activity.

Readmission of Academically Ineligible Students

When a student has experienced unusual personal difficulty arising from causes beyond his or her control, and such difficulty has led to academic exclusion by preventing satisfactory performance, and when a student can offer satisfactory proof of such difficulty and that it has been substantially eliminated, a student may upon petition to the faculty be readmitted.

Readmission may be granted upon such terms and conditions as the faculty in its discretion shall deem appropriate.

A student who is excluded twice shall not be eligible for readmission.

Every applicant for readmission who was not enrolled in the College of Law prior to September, 1972, must satisfy the minimum standards of admission for new students for the quarter in which readmission is sought.

Re-enrollment of Students who Voluntarily

Withdraw from the College of Law

Any student who enrolls in the College of Law and voluntarily withdraws shall be re-enrolled as a matter of right provided he or she had completed at least one full quarter of study and was eligible to continue at the time of withdrawal, and he or she seeks to re-enroll within one year (four quarters) of withdrawal, and gives the College of Law at least one quarter's notice of intention to re-enroll.

Students who voluntarily withdraw from the College of Law who have not completed one quarter's work or who do not seek to re-enroll within one year shall be considered with regard to presently prevailing admission standards, reasons for withdrawal, law school record, and all other relevant factors.

Summer Foreign Law Studies Program

Second or third year students who desire to take law courses abroad during the summer for transfer credit at the College of Law must submit a written request to the faculty through the Office of the Dean and indicate the courses they plan to take. The summer program must be sponsored by an approved American law school using, in substantial part, law professors from the United States. No more than twelve (12) quarter hours may be earned for transfer credit at the College of Law. Grades received in summer foreign programs will not be transferred. Each student's program must be approved in advance.

Degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence

The degree of Doctor of Jurisprudence will be conferred upon candidates who complete, with the required average, nine quarters of resident law study and who have 126 quarter hours of credit, including the required courses. The required average is 2.0, and that average must be maintained on the work of all nine quarters and also in the last three quarters.

Student Services

Orientation and Counseling

Orientation Program

The Student Bar Association, in cooperation with the faculty, sponsors a series of lectures for entering law students. The objectives and aims of the College of Law, the Tennessee Law Review, The Order of the Coif, the student organizations and legal fraternities, the functions of the Legal Clinic, and techniques in adapting study habits to the College of Law curriculum are discussed as part of this orientation program.

Guidance

Each student is assigned a faculty adviser upon registration at the College of Law. Choice of courses, schedule problems, and personal problems of study and law school techniques are all within the scope of the advisory service.

In addition, the facilities of the University Student Counseling Service, and the University's specialized services for improving reading skills and study habits are available to Law College students.

Various testing services will assist in appraising aptitudes and abilities.

Housing

The University operates modern residence halls for single students and apartments for married students.

Single Students. For single student residence halls, applications may be obtained from the Housing Office, 405 Student Services Building, University of Tennessee 37916.

Married Students. The University has provided excellent apartment facilities in several locations for married students with families. Information and application for these facilities may be secured from the Office of Rental Properties, Neyland Stadium, University of Tennessee, 37916.

Off-campus Housing. Students living in off-campus housing are expected to observe the same rules of conduct and standards that are applicable to all students. The student is responsible for obtaining off-campus housing. The University does not inspect or approve these facilities. The terms and conditions for the rental of off-campus housing are between the student and the landlord. A listing of off-campus housing for students is provided by the Off-Campus Housing Office, 344 University Center, University of Tennessee, 37916.

Placement Services

The College of Law operates a placement service designed to assist students in obtaining professional positions. Law firms, corporate legal departments, insurance companies, banks and trust companies, and various governmental agencies make use of our placement facilities. In addition to the facilities of the College, students are entitled to the full use of the University employment bureau. Graduates of the Law College may also use the Placement Office to locate employment or make a change of employment.

Assistance is also available to students pursuing their studies in seeking law-related employment such as clerkships and legal research assignments. Additional non-legal opportunities for part-time employment in the Knoxville area are listed with the Financial Aids Office of the University. A spouse of a full-time student enrolled in the College should contact the Non-Academic Personnel Office, 1900 Terrace Avenue, concerning employment.

University Services

Privileges

Students in the College of Law have the same privileges and are subject to the same regulations as other University students. They may attend classes in other colleges of the University without additional charge, subject to approval of the Dean of Admissions and the student's College of Law adviser. They also have equal privileges with students in other colleges of membership in University organizations, the use of the gymnasium, student aquatic center, and the University libraries.

The Student Center

Directly across from the College of Law is the Carolyn Brown Memorial University Center. Law students are invited to use all of the facilities of this modern University meeting place. In addition to housing most student organization offices, lounges, meeting rooms, and recreational facilities, the Center contains the University Post Office, a grill, cafeteria, bookstore, and supply store.

Student Health Services

Modern hospital facilities and expert medical care are available to all regular students through the University-maintained Student Health Service. Also offered are various laboratory tests, x-rays, and clinical and nursing services. A nominal charge is made when confinement to student clinic and hospital is necessary for more than one day.

A voluntary student group plan of hospital expense insurance for accident and sickness is available. Information on cost and coverage of this insurance will be made available upon enrollment through the office of Student Health Services.

Military and Air Science

Law College students who are desirous of pursuing advanced work in military or air science may do so while attending the College of Law. Such courses are administered as a regular part of the ROTC program at The University of Tennessee. Students interested in this program should communicate directly with the respective Departments of Military Science or Air Science.

Admission Procedure

Dates of Admisslon

The College of Law accepts beginning students at the opening of the summer and fall quarters only. Applications for admission should not be filed prior to October 1 for classes entering the following summer and fall quarters. Applicants are urged to file their applications as soon after October 1 as possible, and the application should be completed no later than March 15, at which time admission decisions will be made. Unless the application is completed (that is, application form, LSAT score, and LSDAS Summary received by the Admissions Office), by March 15, the applicant's chances of acceptance may be seriously prejudiced. Supplementary information, such as senior year grades and receipt of a degree, should be submitted subsequently whenever available.

Requirements for Admisslon

Each applicant must hold a baccalaureate degree from an accredited four year institution by the time of matriculation at the College of Law. Admission to the College of Law is competitive. In evaluating applicants, the Admissions Committee considers gradepoint averages (GPA), Law School Admission Test scores (LSAT), and non-quantifiable indicators of success in law school and the legal profession.

The College of Law accords major weight to an applicant's Combined Score ($200 \times \text{GPA} + \text{LSAT}$). An applicant's GPA for admission purposes is computed on the basis of all baccalaureate and post-baccalaureate work attempted. More recent academic work may be weighted where an applicant has demonstrated substantial improvement in academic performance. Where an applicant has taken the LSAT more than once, the College of Law will average the scores in computing the applicant's Combined Score. The College of Law will not normally admit a student whose GPA is below 2.3 (on a 4.0 scale), whose LSAT is below 475, or whose Combined Score is below 1000. Applicants who do not meet these minimum standards generally have not, in the judgment of the faculty, demonstrated sufficient academic achievement and aptitude for the successful pursuit of the academic program at the College of Law.

In cases where competing applicants' GPA, LSAT, and Combined Scores are substantially equivalent, the College of Law considers as highly important non-quantifiable indicators of strong motivation for the study of law and the likelihood that an applicant will make a distinctive contribution to the legal profession. Among these indicators are a student's writing ability, work experience, extracurricular activities, references, and an essay on why he or she desires to pursue a legal education and enter the legal profession.

Traditionally, the percentage of permanent Tennessee residents in the student body has been approximately 80 percent, and these Tennesseans come from all parts of the state. While it seeks to have an appropriate proportion of out-of-state students in its professional program, the College of Law recognizes that its primary responsibility is to provide adequate opportunities for qualified citizens of Tennessee to pursue a legal education. In consequence of this obligation, the College of Law has afforded and will continue to afford priority to qualified Tennessee applicants in the admission process. Admission standards are therefore more stringent for out-of-state applicants.

The College of Law recognizes the desirability of bringing together an entering class of diverse cultural, social, and educational backgrounds. With this in mind, special consideration, still competitive, may be given to applications for admission submitted by candidates from disadvantaged minority groups. In no case is an applicant admitted unless it appears there is a high probability of success as law student and practicing attorney.

In 1975, the mean admission credentials of Tennesseans admitted to the College of Law were a 3.3 GPA, LSAT in excess of 600, and a 1254 Combined

Score. For non-residents of Tennessee, the means were 3.5 GPA, LSAT in excess of 600, and 1285 Combined Score. Applicants are cautioned, however, that these figures are historical in nature and may not be characteristic of future classes.

Competition for admission has increased greatly in recent years, and apart from providing this historical data, the College of Law cannot predict the competitive situation for 1976.

Law School Admission Test

All applicants for admission as beginning law students must take the Law School Admission Test given by the Educational Testing Service in cooperation with leading law schools throughout the country.

The test may be taken before application is made for admission to law school. Applications to take the test must be sent directly to the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. Tests are normally given in October, December, February, April and July, and are held in many centers throughout the United States. The dates for the tests will be announced later. All except July are scheduled to be held in the Moot Court room of The University of Tennessee College of Law. In general, applications should be filed with the Educational Testing Service not later than three weeks prior to the examination date. Requests for the form of application should be sent to the Educational Testing Service or the College of Law five or six weeks in advance of the testing date which the candidate has chosen.

Prospective students should take the test in October or December of the year prior to expected admission. February test scores may not reach the Admissions Office by the March 15 deadline.

Law School Data Assembly Service

Applicants for admission must register with the Law School Data Assembly Service (LSDAS) by completing and mailing the registration form, which may be obtained from the College of Law or directly from the Educational Testing Service. A transcript from each college attended should then be sent, not to the law school, but directly to:

LSDAS
Educational Testing Service
Box 944
Princeton, New Jersey 08540

The LSDAS will analyze the transcript and send a copy to this law school and others you designate on the registration form. If the transcripts do not show a degree, you will be asked to submit a final transcript showing the award of a bachelor's degree directly to the law school. Before that time, additional transcripts should be submitted only in response to a special request from the law school.

Transfer Students

Students attending law schools fully accredited by the Association of American Law Schools and the American Bar Association may be considered for admission with advanced standing, provided that their pre-law credentials are at least a 2.3 GPA, a 475 LSAT, and a 1000 Combined Score (200 x GPA + LSAT) and they are in good standing and eligible to return to the law school in which they are enrolled.

Transfer applications are evaluated by the Admissions Committee with regard to the student's pre-law credentials and academic record in law school. Transfer students may receive, at the discretion of the faculty, up to two years of academic credit for work successfully completed at their former law schools. The last academic year (three resident quarters) must be completed at the College of Law.

Transfer applicants may be admitted at the beginning of any quarter. To apply for admission with advanced standing, a student should submit to the College of Law an LSAT score report, undergraduate transcripts, law school transcripts, and a letter of good standing from the dean or registrar of the law school previously attended.

Notice

Applicants for admission to the College of Law should be aware that all states evaluate the moral character (including any criminal record) and academic accomplishment of all applicants for admission to the bar.

Each applicant should obtain information concerning the character and other qualifications for admission to the bar in the state in which he or she intends to practice.

Living Expenses

In addition to the University fees, expenses at The University of Tennessee vary greatly according to the habits of the individual student. It is estimated that the average cost of room, meals, books, and laundry will total about $2,000 for an academic year of three quarters. This includes all necessary expenditures, but does not include clothing, travel expenses, or pocket money.

Deposit

Due to the large number of applicants, a $50 deposit may be required of all students admitted to the College of Law. The deposits, when required, will apply toward the first quarter's fees when the student registers in the College of Law. If the student does not register, the deposit is not returnable. When an applicant is accepted, he or she will be advised of the necessity of making a deposit and of the deadline which must be met to save a place in the quarter for which admitted.

Delayed Registration

Students are reminded that they should complete registration, including financial arrangements with the Treasurer's Office, within the scheduled registration days. Late registration fees, reinstatement service fees, deferred payment service fees, and other fees are set out in the appropriate section of the University Catalog. Absences will be counted beginning with the first day of classes. No student will be admitted later than one week after the beginning of any quarter.

Loan Funds

Students in the College of Law are eligible to make use of the University loan funds. These funds, administered by the Board of Trustees, are available to all students of the University who have completed one quarter of satisfactory work in the University and have begun their second quarter. Fuller information will be found in the main section of the general University Catalog.

Students in the College of Law are eligible to apply for loans under the National Direct Student Loan Program. Applications will be accepted from incoming freshmen as well as upper class students. Information and application forms should be obtained from the Financial Aids Office of The University of Tennessee.

Work-Study

The University administers work opportunities under the Federal College Work-Study Program. Eligible students may obtain research positions with law faculty members to supplement their incomes through legal research and writing. Requests for applications should be directed to the University Financial Aids Office.

Scholarships

Scholarships administered by the College of Law are awarded once every academic year. The determination of first-year recipients is made in May for the following academic year. The determination of second- and third-year recipients is made in July for the following academic year. The awards are payable in three quarterly installments commencing with fall quarter and terminating with spring quarter.

Scholarships will be awarded only to students who take at least twelve (12) hours each quarter. If a student who has been awarded a scholarship takes less than twelve (12) hours in a given quarter, the scholarship will be subject to cancellation by the Scholarship Committee.

The financial information form may be obtained from the Law College Admissions Office. Entering students must submit financial information forms no later than May 1, and students enrolled in the Law College must submit the form no later than June 15.
