Answer to last month's Taylor Trivia: The University of Tennessee College of Law became a charter member of the Association of American Law Schools in 1900. Our membership was lost in 1905 when the AALS required three years of study, but it was re-instated in 1913 when we added a third year to our program.

Alumni Directory to be Published During Centennial Year

If you have been reading your Alumni Headnotes carefully, you know that we will be publishing a new directory of our alumni this year. Harris Publishing Company of White Plains, New York, will be sending out a mailing this fall to ask alumni to update their employment and home addresses.

Telephone inquiries will be made by the company in January to verify the information on file and, yes, to ask alumni if they want to buy a copy. This is the only way we can get our mailing list updated professionally and get a directory published for our alumni at no cost to the school.

We have been given assurances that alumni will not be pressured to purchase directories and that duplicate calls will not be made. We even visited their telemarketing office in Nashville to check out their procedures and policies.

If you hear from alumni that they are not being treated properly by the publishing company, please let Julie Hardin know so that we can avert any unnecessary unpleasantness.
