A Message from the Dean ...

We are entering the 1970-71 academic year with an enthusiasm sparked by our constructive 1970 Self-Study, the finalizing of the dean-selection process, our rising enrollment, and the approaching completion of the new addition to the Law College building.

Harold C. Warner

The highlight of the past few months was the completion of the 1970 Self-Study as part of the decennial accreditation survey required on a university-wide basis by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

The Law College Study was programmed in three classifications: I, General Character, which includes such topics as accreditation, faculty and staff, student body, scholarships, and placement services; II, Resources, which concerns financial structure, physical facilities, and library; and III, Academic Programs, which considers objectives, academic standards, curriculum, research, moot court programs, legal aid, and the law review.

Our prior self-study, conducted in 1961-62, was a detailed critical evaluation of the law school, which pointed up its strengths and weaknesses and formulated our goals for the ensuing decade. The 1970-71 Study is proving invaluable to the faculty in appraising our successes and failures in accomplishing the objectives that were set up in the earlier study.

The current study emphasizes that the primary needs of the Law College are greater resources for its programs, additional faculty members, more scholarship funds, a larger library staff and a substantial increase in book appropriations.

During the last ten years, considerable progress has been made in revitalizing the curriculum, but the reappraisal and reorientation projected by our Faculty for the coming decennial will require more faculty members. Our physical facilities have been cramped in recent years, but the new addition to the law building will provide adequate classrooms, faculty offices, additional legal aid clinic service areas, and library reading room and stack space.

Improvement has also been noted in scholarship funding, research and writing, and in academic standards, but progress in some areas is not as significant as it could be and further attention will be needed in the next decade.

In our projection of goals, we have taken into consideration the possibility of a gradual increase in enrollment. The following national statistics from the Review of Legal Education published by the American Bar Association, Section on Legal Education, are significant:

Year	Tot. Enrollment ABA Approved Schools	Tot. Enrollment Non-ABA Approved Schools	Total Enrollment All Schools
1955	35,792	4,555	40,347
1960	40,381	3,314	43,695
1965	59,744	5,313	65,057
1969	68,386	3,646	72,032

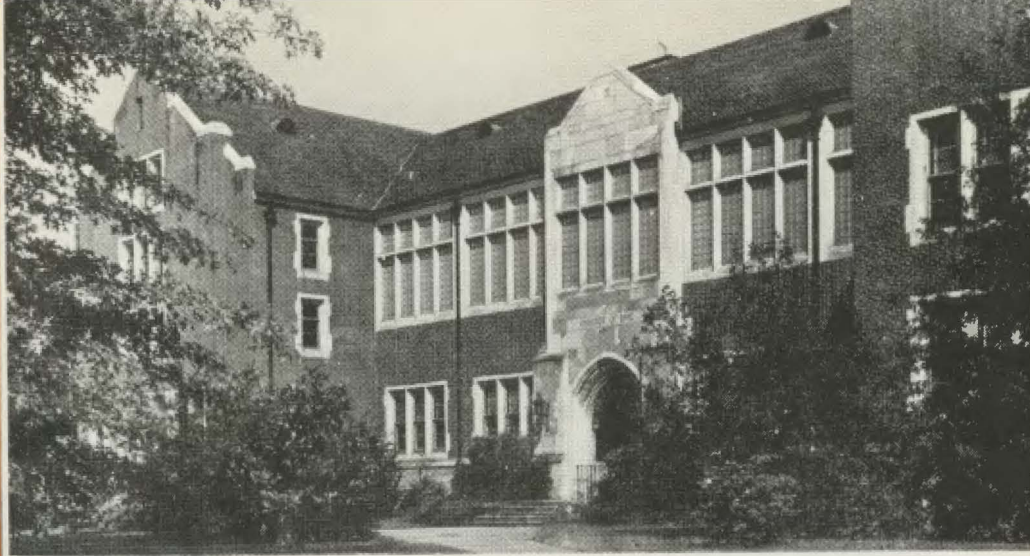

The Review also lists 151 A.B.A. approved law schools in the United States in 1969. In addition, there were 28 law schools not on the approved list. The number of graduates from approved law schools in 1969 totaled 16,733. Non-approved law schools granted 507 law degrees.

The enrollment at the College of Law for the Fall Quarter is 416, an increase of 59 from Fall Quarter, 1969. Due to space limitations and construction demands, we were forced to advise many of our qualified Fall Quarter applicants that we had to postpone their admission until the Winter Quarter, when some of the classroom facilities in the new addition would be available. The entire new wing, however, will not be opened until late February, 1971.

Our Dean-Selection Committee narrowed down a field of forty potential candidates to five highly qualified men. During the past few weeks, these five candidates visited the College of Law for periods of several days each. They were interviewed by the law faculty, students, and by the University administration. All of these men made a most favorable impression. The faculty is in the process of selecting our first choice, whom we will again interview as soon as possible. We hope to reach a final decision within the next several weeks.

We have recently added a new faculty member to the Legal Clinic staff: Frederic S. LeClerq, formerly Assistant Professor at Emory University School of Law and Associate at the Center of Study of Law and Society at the University of California, Berkeley. Associate Professor Toxey Sewell has relinquished his Clinic duties and is now teaching full-time on the faculty. Applications for two faculty positions are also currently being processed to fill present vacancies on the staff.

In closing, I express the hope that you will find this placement issue of the U-T Lawyer of value when you are considering new associates. If you are interested in hiring any of the men or women listed, please contact the Director of our Placement Office, who will send you resumes and assist in arranging for interviews at your office or at the College of Law.

Delta Theta Phi

Delta Theta Phi legal fraternity completed one of its most successful years this past summer quarter; the outlook for the future is brighter than ever. The fraternity elected its new officers: Howie Malatzky—President; Bliss Hawkins—Vice-President; E. G. Moody—Treasurer; Howell Sherrod—Secretary; and Les Fein—Tribune. These were the men mainly responsible for Delta Theta Phi's resurgence with a triumphant rush program.

During the academic year the fraternity presented a number of mock trials at local high schools that proved to be both entertaining and educational. Also, the fraternity sponsored an advisee program for undergraduate pre-law students attending the University of Tennessee.

On the individual level, a number of Deltas received various honors and awards. Richard Kantor won the Law Day Competition and was later selected to represent U.T. on the National Moot Court Team. Ralph Lotkin was selected Editor-in-Chief of the U-T Lawyer. Les Fein and Howell Sherrod were elected to sit on the U.T. Student Government Tribunal. Julian Blackshear, Leon Perry, and Pete Dominguez were each selected as the outstanding students in their moot court classes by the judges who presided.

Phi Delta Phi

Roosevelt Inn of Phi Delta Phi, under the leadership of John McLellan, Magister; Eric Christiansen, Vice Magister; Bob Weismueller and Robert Littleton, Exchequer; John Peterson, Clerk; and Bill Cloud, Historian, is continuing its social and academic rise at the U.T. College of Law.

The Roosevelt Inn's major service project for this year is the sponsorship of a seminar on the new rules of Tennessee Procedure (effective January 1, 1971) by former U.T. Law Professor Donald F. Paine. A seminar will be held in Memphis, Nashville, Knoxville, Chattanooga and Murfreesboro later this year.

Several of the Brothers have been working diligently in the literary field this past quarter. Brother Jim Foutch, Editor-in-Chief of the Tennessee Law Review, hopes to publish the Fall issue soon; and Brothers Chuck Stedman, John Jones and John McLellan have successfully brought the somewhat less academic General Issue to new heights in humor and information this past summer quarter.

Phi Alpha Delta

The brothers of McReynolds Chapter are planning an active fall, with renewed emphasis on the professional obligations of the fraternity. The social aspect will not be forgotten though, as a dinner-dance is planned for brothers and their wives or dates, as well as for all alumni in the area. More information on this big event will be forthcoming.

McReynolds Chapter was honored to initiate the following men summer quarter: Michael M. Allison and Jerry S. Sloan, both from Chattanooga; Andy F. Bryson and E. Wycliffe Orr, both from Knoxville; Charles Deas, Glen Ellyn, Illinois; Charles H. Seehorn, Morristown; and Lee Dan Stone, New Tazewell.

Brothers Jeff Henry and Mark Potter attended the 38th Biennial International Convention of PAD in New Orleans from September 1 to September 5. The most controversial issue acted upon was that of the right of women to join the fraternity. Following heated debate, this issue was resolved by passage of an amendment allowing women to join PAD.

The brothers of PAD congratulate brother Jim Logan on a job well done as his term of office as President of the Student Bar Association comes to an end.

Student Bar Notes

Recently the SBA broadened its services to the student by installing a phone in the law school for student use. The SBA also plans to retain use of parking facilities for law students who live appreciable distances from the law school.

As the selection of a new law school Dean continues, the SBA continues to express the interest of the law student body in regard to the selection of a worthy successor to Dean Warner, who will retire in September, 1971.

Attorney General David Pack spoke to the entering freshmen at the recent SBA-sponsored orientation program. Mr. Pack stressed the need for a society based on law and the need for more young attorneys to strengthen that society. Dean Warner gave the official law school welcome to the entering freshmen and Dr. Overton delivered a well-choreographed introduction to the art of writing a law school brief.

National Moot Court Team

The National Moot Court Team for 1970-1971 was selected last spring. The new members of the team are Phil Fleissner of Chattanooga, Richard Kantor of Nashville, and Jon Robinson of Quincy, Illinois. Selected on the basis of skill in legal draftmanship and oral presentation, these three law seniors will participate in the regional competition in New Orleans on November 12-14, 1970. If successful in New Orleans, they will advance to the National Competition in New York City.

The question on appeal involves the right of the author of an allegedly libelous magazine article not to disclose the source of his information in a civil action for libel against the magazine publisher.
