...in nuclear waste disposal choices.

Dixie Lee Ray, former Governor of Washington state and former Chairperson of the Atomic Energy Commission (forerunner of the U.S. Department of Energy), will be the keynote speaker at the banquet on Thursday, March 13. Other speakers and panelists for the two-day event include Dr. Jeffrey Schevitz of the Department of Applied Systems Analysis in West Germany, A.H. Schilling, Counsel for Battelle Human Affairs Research in Washington, D.C., Susan Wiltshire of Massachusetts who serves on the Board of Radioactive Waste Management of the National Academy of Sciences, Steve Frishman, Director of Nuclear Waste Programs for the Office of the Governor of Texas, and Gary Davis, Counsel for the Legal Environmental Assistance Foundation, plus many other leaders in the field.

Thursday's presentations and workshops will focus on monitored retrievable storage (MRS), while the emphasis on Friday will be on repository siting. There will be a $30 charge for the meal functions.

A special symposium issue of the Tennessee Law Review will be published from papers prepared by the Colloquium's faculty.

For more information, contact Nora Cannon or Micki Tweed at 615/974-4464.

FINAL PHOTO SESSION FOR
1986-87 LAWYERS OF THE FUTURE

FRIDAY, MARCH 7
8:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m.
1Ls and 2Ls
No charge to students
Sign up by Thursday, March 6.

This publication will be distributed to potential employers this July for use during the Fall, 1986 and Spring, 1987 recruiting seasons.

So far, 103 first-year and 41 second-year students have been photographed for this year's edition of Lawyers of the Future. That's about 50 per cent of the two classes -- we would like to make participation as near 100 per cent as possible.

Are you unsure of the benefit of being included? Read the student testimonial excerpted from a thank-you letter:

I am writing to inform you of the good results I have achieved from the Young Lawyers of the Future book and to encourage other students to participate in the publication. As you know I have been selected from an interview with Chevron USA in New Orleans, Louisiana. Mr. J. W. Wilson of Chevron contacted me through the Young Lawyers book.

Last year I was skeptical of the book. I felt that since I had had no luck with numerous on campus interviews and by sending several resumes that the book would not do any good. However, Mr. Wilson informed me that since they have limited their use of on campus interviews books such as the Young Lawyers book have become a major means of contacting prospective employees.

Law Clerk, U. S. Bankruptcy Court

There is no charge for participation this year due to the generosity of alumnus Richard Rose of Houston and the recognition by Dean Penegar of importance of this publication to our students and alumni, alike. The greater the participation, the greater the value to recruiters & YOU!

A CONTEST TRANSCRIPT

Question: What will the well-dressed GCT law student be wearing this spring?

Answer: A tee shirt designed especially for George C. Taylor Law Center!

Question: What will the well-dressed GCT law student's tee shirt look like?

Answer: You tell us! Enter the "GCT T-Shirt Logo Contest".

Question: What is the "GCT T-Shirt Logo Contest"?

Answer: It's a contest to design an appropriate logo for the GCT T-shirt, of course!

The contest is open to the entire GCT community: students, faculty, and staff. Entries must consist of a black and white design which will duplicate well on the front of a tee shirt; the design should incorporate some reference to the George C. Taylor Law Center.

Deadline for entries is Wednesday, March 12, 1986 at 5:00 p.m. (We want the tee shirts to be ready in time for Law Week.) Turn your entry in to Suite 14 in care of Betty Stuart.

The winner will be selected by a panel of judges representing the faculty, students, and the administration. We reserve the right not to select a winner if no design is appropriate for publication on a tee shirt to be worn by law students.

Question: What does the winner receive?

Answer: Besides the gratitude and adoration of the law school community, the winner will receive a free GCT T-Shirt and the designation as "Official GCT Artist in Residence".

Faculty/Staff News

FAMILIAR FACES IN NEW PLACES

Here's a map to help you locate some familiar faces in their new positions:

JEANNIE EMANTEL just moved across the room when she was promoted to Senior Word Processing Specialist in the Word Processing Center.

MISSY RICHMOND, who was the faculty secretary in the annex area, has been promoted to Word Processing Specialist. You can now find her in Suite 14.

BETTY STUART, formerly in the Student Records Office, has been promoted to the position of External Affairs Assistant. Her new office is in Suite 14 in Public Law Institute.

CONGRATULATIONS to all three of you!

BAD NEWS/GOOD NEWS

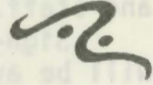

The bad news is that we are losing Judy Barckhoff, currently Administrative Services Assistant to the Dean. She has accepted a position with Provost George Wheeler as his executive secretary.

The good news is that the Provost wants her so much that he is willing to wait until the first of June for her to join his staff. Sincerely, we know how much she cares about the College of Law, so the Provost must have made her an offer she couldn't refuse.

We will miss this valuable individual when June arrives, but we hope this will be a successful career move for her. Go for it, Judy!

Learning Center (TLC). While the main purpose of the TLC is the training of first year students in computer-assisted legal research, training sessions will be available to upper division students, faculty, and staff.

Sign-up sheets for students will be available at the Circulation Desk March 3-7. Faculty and staff interested in participating in the TLC should contact the Public Services staff in the Library.

Everyone is encouraged to participate in this unique learning experience. For further information concerning the TLC please contact Professor Ruth Hill in the Law Library.

You Should Know...

The College of Law's Alumni Advisory Council gathered in Knoxville on Saturday, March 1, to discuss the current curriculum review and building plans. About 25 alumni, some from as far away as Houston, Memphis, and Marietta, Ga., heard presentations from Dean Penegar, Professors Cohen and Kovac, and Dean Sebert.

PHOTOGRAPHY OF LAW STUDENT ALAN WHEELER TO BE EXHIBITED

The color photography of third-year student Alan Wheeler will be exhibited in the lobby of First Tennessee Bank (at the corner of Gay and Clinch) from August 6-29.

Alan says he has been a photographer since 1976 and that scenery is his favorite subject.

PHOTOGRAPHY (continued)
The exhibit is sponsored by the Knoxville Arts Council. For more information, call 615/637-6349.

HUMPHREY FELLOWSHIP IN ARMS CONTROL AND DISARMAMENT ANNOUNCED

Law candidates for the Juris Doctor who are writing a substantial paper in partial fulfillment of degree requirements are eligible to apply for one-year Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowships in arms control and disarmament. Stipends and tuition will be prorated according to the credits given for the research paper.

The application deadline is March 15, 1986. Write: Hubert H. Humphrey Fellowship Program, Office of Public Affairs, U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, Washington, D.C. 20451.

DOUGLASS MOOT COURT TEAM COMPETING MARCH 5-7

Darryl Humphrey and Mark Brown will be in Baton Rouge, Louisiana to compete in the Frederick Douglass Moot Court Competition, March 5-7. Good luck!

MOOT COURT ACTION IN NEW YORK

Our Labor Law Moot Court Team of Jeff Anderson, Oral Hurst, and David Proctor represented GCT in New York City, February 27 - March 2, for the Robert F. Wagner Labor Law Moot Court Competition. They defeated American University, Washington, D.C. in the first round and Villanova,

Philadelphia, PA, in the second round. The team lost in the third round to Southern Methodist University, Dallas, TX, by a split panel. Professor Pat Hardin has been the faculty advisor for the team.

The team also enjoyed the sights, sounds and cuisine of the "Big Apple" and bought back with them many exciting memories and learning experiences.

Our congratulations go to Jeff, Oral, David, and Professor Hardin for their accomplishments as well as our appreciation for their hard work in writing the brief and preparing for the oral argument phase of the competition!

WHEELER ELECTED TLR EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

The Tennessee Law Review has announced the election of Joe Wheeler as Editor-in-Chief for the next academic year.

UT HOSTED APPALACHIAN REGIONAL OF INTERNATIONAL MOOT COURT COMPETITION

The snowstorm which hit Knoxville on February 14th delayed the arrival of some of the twelve teams competing in the Appalachian Regional of the Philip C. Jessup International Moot Court Competition, but the delay failed to dampen their enthusiasm. The competition was perceived by the participants as well-managed and thoughtfully staged.

Tennessee's team made it to the finals, but they lost to a team from the College of William & Mary. Joyce McMonagle of UT tied for fourth place in the Best Oralist category.

Dean Penegar expressed his appreciation for the significant contributions to the success of this event by Judy Barckhoff, Moot Court Chairperson Sandra Cosby, Janice Kell, Lynn Haley, Associate Dean John Sebert, and Professor Bob Lloyd. Professors Joseph Cook, Tom Eisele, and John Sobieski served as judges along with a number of distinguished practicing attorneys and judges. Students serving on the Competition Committee or as bailiffs also deserve a round of applause!

TWO HAVE ACCEPTED OFFERS TO JOIN OUR FACULTY

The Appointments Committee, chaired by Professor Carl Pierce, has been busy this year. Their hard work has culminated in the appointments of Dr. Ndiva Kofele-Kale and Dr. Thomas Davies to our faculty at the rank of Associate Professor, effective Fall, 1986.

Dr. Kofele-Kale is a corporate and securities attorney in the Illinois law firm of Lord, Bissell & Brook, and has been a Professor of Political Science at Governors State University since 1974. He earned his law degree, a Ph.D. in Political Science, and a Master's degree in International Politics at Northwestern University. His publications list includes 2 books, 1 monograph, 25 journal/law review articles, and numerous conference papers.

Dr. Davies, who also holds a Ph.D. in Political Science and a J.D. from Northwestern, has been a Project Director for the American Bar Foundation since September, 1981, and previously was an Associate in the Chicago firm of Kirkland & Ellis. He has written numerous articles on such topics as Fourth Amendment Protections, Due Process, and the Exclusionary Rule, and appeared "of counsel" in the 1983 U.S. Supreme Court case, Illinois v. Gates. His primary teaching interests are Criminal Procedure and Law and Social Science courses.

1986-87 EDITOR-IN-CHIEF

 Tennessee
JUDICIAL NEWSLETTER

JOB DESCRIPTION

Responsible for the production of the Public Law Institute's bi-monthly publication, the Tennessee Judicial Newsletter. This is a position for law students who will be in their third year of study during 1986-87. The Editor-in-Chief reports to the Associate Dean for External Affairs. Average workload: Ten hours per week. Duration: June, 1986 through May, 1987. Compensation: $4 per hour.

REQUIREMENTS

Superior writing, editing, and leadership skills; Strong commitment to the ideals of public service; Previous experience in periodical production, i.e., newsletters, newspapers, or other similar publications, desirable; Previous experience on the staff or editorial board of the Tennessee Judicial Newsletter especially desirable, though not required.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

Submit resume with cover letter and writing sample (memo, brief, etc.) by MONDAY, MARCH 31, 1986 to Michael Kent, the current Editor-in-Chief, or Dean Hardin. Applications may be left at the front desk in the Public Law Institute, Suite 14.

1986 STREET LAW MOCK TRIAL COMPETITION

We're entering the elimination round on March 10th. After two practice rounds and two preliminary rounds, the students on all thirteen teams have developed into impressive attorneys and witnesses. What's more, they seem to have maintained a positive attitude toward the event as a valuable learning experience, as evidenced by the number of teams willing to compete twice in one evening for the extra practice.

The scores accumulated in the two preliminary rounds determine seeding for the elimination round. Webb, Bearden, Catholic, Oak Ridge, and Fulton are the top five seeds, but all of the teams have a chance at the Knox Area Championship. That final round will be held in the Moot Court Room at 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, March 19. The finals will be followed by an awards ceremony and a reception to which all participants are invited.
