Honorable Judge Sean Lane,

I write to you today to ask you to reject any consideration of allowing American Airlines to abandon its pension obligation. I took early retirement in 2003 after over 20 years with American Airlines. I began receiving a pension November 2010. I feel American Airlines should honor the agreement we had during my employment of offering me a pension. I felt this was done in lieu of the larger salary I could have received working for another company. We were always told one of the benefits of working for American Airlines was the pension program. They proved their word was good for many years by continuing to offer the pension program after other airlines stopped theirs. I am proud of that fact and appreciate their decision.

Please understand I am very proud to have worked for American Airlines. It is a great company and one that will survive this downturn. I am just asking to be treated with the same respect I gave American Airlines for over 20 years.

Thank you for your consideration.

Honorable Judge Sean Lane,

I write to you today to ask you to reject any consideration of allowing American Airlines to abandon its pension obligation. I took early retirement in 2008 after over 30 years with American Airlines. I began receiving a pension November 2010. I feel American Airlines should honor the agreement we had during my employment of offering me a pension. I felt this was done in lieu of the larger salary I could have received working for another company. We were always told one of the benefits of working for American Airlines was the pension program. They proved their word was good for many years by continuing to offer the pension program after other airlines stopped theirs. I am proud of that fact and appreciate their decision.

Please understand I am very proud to have worked for American Airlines. It is a great company and one that will survive this downturn. I am just asking to be treated with the same respect I gave American Airlines for over 30 years.

Thank you for your consideration.
